Your World Travel...

In three weeks, you will return back to Paris with a heart full of new encounters and friendships, as well as memories of laughter, landscapes, music, and dances of today or traditions of the past, rich in reflections amidst the remains of vanished civilizations: you will have toured around the world.

We will cross the Atlantic Ocean to the Yucatan in Mexico. Here, the colonial charm of Merida coexists with the ruins of the Mayan civilization, resolutely warlike people, and worshippers of the snake god, but also builders, artists and scientists, as well as historians who have not finished revealing the causes of its decline. You will visit Chichen Itza, a famous witness of its past glory.

We will stop in the French Polynesia, another bastion of Polynesian civilization, where you will enjoy the mildness of Moorea or Bora Bora to relax in the turquoise waters of its lagoons or in the spa of your hotel.

Highlights

- Unforgettable encounters with the local populations
- Enchanting and unusual evenings in magical places
- Special guest speakers at some of the stopovers
- Gala dinner in a temple of the Angkorian era
- Unique railway experience to Machu Picchu

As we enter the southern hemisphere, Peru will tell us another story: that of the violent clash between the Inca Empire and the Spanish conquistadors. A few hours from Cuzco, you will explore the emblematic Machu Picchu, a city perched on a slope of the Andes.

Our plane will then guide us to one of the best kept secrets of our planet, the mysterious Easter Island, a 164 km² of volcanic land in the middle of the Pacific Ocean. Here, the oral tradition is alive and well, transmitting the history of the Moai from the Matamua to the RapaNui.

Today is tomorrow, we have just crossed the international date line.

New Zealand welcomes us in Auckland, a cosmopolitan city, and mixture of Polynesian culture and the British regime. You will visit Rotorua, the heart of Maori country and a region of high geothermal activity, known for its geyser and sulfur springs.

We will finally leave the Pacific world with our arrival in Indonesia, a territory spread over the two hemispheres, and a huge mosaic of cultures and ethnic groups. We will land in Yogyakarta on the island of Java, where you will discover the Borobudur Temple, a thousand-year-old vestige built for Buddha.

We will reach Angkor, the pride of Cambodia and probably the largest archaeological site in the world. Listed as a UNESCO heritage site, it bears witness to four centuries of Khmer sovereignty over an area of more than 400 km².

Delhi will open the doors of India to us, you will visit the Red Fort in Agra before greeting the Taj Mahal, a sumptuous white marble mausoleum, witness to the eternal love of a Mughal emperor for his deceased wife.

Finally, we will land in Jordan, a land full of history so often mentioned in the Holy Bible. You will leave from Aqaba in search of the "Treasure" carved in sandstone by the Nabateans, the true emblem of the city of Petra. The next day, you will get lost in Wadi Rum, the immense territory of the lords of the desert from whom Lawrence of Arabia learned the Seven Pillars of Wisdom and reinforced his love of freedom.
